8- Cookies and others trackers

8.1 - What is a "Cookie"?

Our Site uses cookies and other similar technologies (as described below) to distinguish you from other users of our Website. This helps us to provide you with a good experience when you browse our Site, allows us to improve our Website and provide you with tailored content and advertising.

A cookie is a small file of letters and numbers that we store on your browser or the hard drive of your computer if you agree. Cookies contain information that is transferred to your computer's hard drive.

You can find more information about the types of cookies we use and the purposes for which we use them in the table below:

Type of Cookie	Purpose of Cookie
Strictly Necessary	These cookies are essential in order to enable you to browse our Website and use its features. The information collected by these cookies relate to the operation of our Website, for example website scripting language and security tokens to maintain secure areas of our Website.
Performance / Analytics	These cookies collect anonymous information about how you use our Site, for example which pages you visit most often, whether you receive any error messages, and how you arrived at our Site. Information collected by these cookies is used only to improve your use of our Site and never to identify you.

	These cookies are sometimes placed by third-party providers of web traffic analysis services, such as Google Analytics.
Targeting or Advertising	These cookies collect information about your browsing habits and inferred interests in order to make advertising more relevant to you. They are also used to limit the number of times you see an advert, as well as to measure the effectiveness of an advertising campaign. These cookies are usually placed by third-party advertising networks. They remember the other websites that you visit and this information is shared with third-party organisations, for example advertisers.

Please note that third parties (including, for example, advertising networks and providers of external services like web traffic analysis services) may also use cookies, over which we have no control. These cookies are likely to be analytical/performance cookies or targeting cookies.

8.2 The User's choice concerning trackers

The User may at any time express and modify his/her wishes in relation to the trackers through the banner that appears when he/she visits the Website by clicking on "Ok, accept all" or "Personalize".

Most internet browsers are automatically set up to accept cookies. However, if you want to refuse or delete any cookies (or similar technologies), please refer to the help and support area on your internet browser for instructions on how to block or delete cookies. Please note you may not be able to take advantage of all the features of our Website, including certain personalised features, if you delete or disable cookies.

The User may configure his/her browser in such a way as to accept or reject trackers from or third parties, on a case-by-case basis, or on a permanent basis.

It is possible that the setting chosen may modify and/or restrict access to and use of the Services.

In order to make a choice in relation to his/her browser, the User may consult the following pages:
